

Shanti Mandir is a worldwide community of people from all walks of life who have the common aspiration of experiencing divinity, knowing the Self, and recognizing the sacred in all.

Established in 1987 by Mahamandaleshwar Swami Nityananda, it continues the spiritual work of his Guru, the renowned sage Baba Muktananda, whom he succeeded, continuing the lineage of Siddha Gurus (enlightened masters), immersed in consciousness. Shanti Mandir focuses on:

- Providing access to the teachings and practices of the great sages of India, in particular those of the lineage of Shaktipat Gurus represented by Swami Nityananda; Baba Muktananda; and his Guru, Bhagavan Nityananda
- Guiding seekers to the direct experience of divinity through Sanskrit chanting, silent meditation, sacred texts, the offering of service, and participation in ancient rituals
- Meditation Intensives/Meditation Retreats – Meditation Intensives with Gurudev Nityananda provide a unique opportunity to receive guidance, inspiration, and encouragement for one’s own spiritual practice by spending the day in his presence. Meditation Retreats with Shanti Mandir instructors provide a powerful atmosphere in which to deepen one’s understanding and experience of meditation.
- Indian Classical Music – As Shanti Mandir aims to become a seat for Indian Classical Music in the Hudson Valley, we are hosting music concerts at the Ashram for the members of the surrounding community to enjoy while supporting local budding musicians along with inviting world-renowned performers from time to time.

ASHRAMS IN INDIA

Magod

This tranquil, traditional ashram, set in its lush orchard garden, is found in the state of Gujarat, India, near the village of Magod, a 10-minute drive from Valsad, a four-hour train ride north of Mumbai.

A picturesque, 20-acre property, shaded by hundreds of mango, coconut, and chickoo trees, it was inaugurated in 1999 and has been developed to accommodate over 200 people in new, serviced buildings.

Its design, function, and energy provide an ideal environment for spiritual practice with Sanskrit chanting, meditation, and sacred rituals in its two temples, under the guidance of the living Guru.

Kankhal

This small ashram is found near the old pilgrimage town of Haridwar at the foothills of the Himalayas, on Sannyas Road, Kankhal, a street beside the Ganges River, filled with old ashrams.

A four-hour train ride north of New Delhi and a short drive from the train station leads to a place where the Vedic way of life – the sacred knowledge; language; music; rituals; and practices of the Sanatana Dharma (the Universal Law, or Way, commonly known as Hinduism) – continues today under the guidance of the mahamandaleshwars, acharyas, and holy men of the Indian tradition.

Swami Muktananda

Baba Muktananda (1908-1982) embarked on a spiritual journey at the age of 15, and his quest lasted for about 25 years, during which time he traveled across India, studying different forms of yoga and meeting many yogis. His search ended when he met his Guru, Bhagavan Nityananda, one of the greatest Siddhas of the last century, and received a powerful spiritual initiation from him. Following this, Baba performed intense spiritual practices for nine years, which culminated when Nityananda declared that Muktananda had become enlightened. In his spiritual autobiography, Play of Consciousness, Baba describes the remarkable unfolding that resulted from the transmission of spiritual energy he received from his Guru. In the last 12 years of his life, Baba made three world tours, creating a "Meditation Revolution," during which he gave Shaktipat to thousands. Baba had the unique ability to give anyone a direct experience of the divine. He spoke in Hindi and his words were translated, yet his communication and message were beyond language and culture. Baba was a perfect manifestation of his name, Muktananda, which means "the bliss of freedom." Audiences experienced his magnetic presence and his blissful energy, and were enchanted by his warmth, his mischievous humor, and the joyful spontaneity that informed his every gesture. Baba's teachings penetrated the mainstream of the prevailing Western culture in the 1970s. His essential teaching was "Meditate on your Self, worship your Self, kneel to your Self, honor your Self, God dwells within you as you."

Gurudev Swami Nityananda

Born in Mumbai, India, in 1962, Gurudev Swami Nityananda was raised from birth in an environment of yoga and meditation. His parents were devotees of Bhagavan Nityananda and Baba Muktananda. Trained from childhood by Baba, he learned the various yogic practices, including meditation, kirtan, and Sanskrit chanting, and studied the philosophies of Advaita Vedanta and Kashmir Shaivism. He was initiated into the Saraswati order of monks in 1980 at 18 years of age and was given the name Swami Nityananda by Baba. In 1981, Baba declared that Swami Nityananda would succeed him to carry on the lineage. In 1987, Swami Nityananda founded Shanti Mandir as a vehicle for continuing his Guru's work and subsequently established three ashrams. In 1995, at the age of 32, at a traditional ceremony in India, the saints installed him as a Mahamandaleshwar in recognition of his spiritual attainment. Shanti Mandir ashrams also support a number of community projects and charitable activities around the world. He travels between the ashrams each year, sharing the spiritual practices and teachings in which he has been initiated. His palpable humility, devotion, patience, and acceptance; his ability to speak English; and his knowledge of the Western culture allow audiences to grasp the traditional Vedic teachings with ease. While carrying on the traditional teachings, he makes spirituality a practical part of modern daily reality, guided by the prayer "May all beings be content."

"Chanting and meditation nurture peace and contentment within, encouraging a balance between our spiritual and worldly lives. Daily practice of chanting and meditation gives us sublime strength and clarity to live in the awareness of that Truth which is beyond all differences."

– SWAMI NITYANANDA
